ATTACKED BY TRESPASSERS

Was Knocked Down and Beaten Until He Became Unconscious—Arrests Made—Preacher Said to Have Been the Offender.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

FRANKFORT, Ind., August 14.—The Rev. Stephen Clark, the aged Baptist preacher, who, when attacked by a burly tramp a few weeks ago, gave the knight of the road such a severe beating that he was a good subject for the hospital, has had another pugilistic experience. A party of youngsters took possession of his private park, and when he ordered them to move two of the men assaulted him, knocking him down and beating him until he was unconscious. They then left Mr. Clark and drove rapidly away, but word was brought to this city and the police have since arrested the two men.

PRIZE FOR SCIENTIFIC WORK.

The Shelby Medal Designed for Man over College Students.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

MADISON, Ind., August 14.—Dr. William D. Shelby, who graduated at Hanover in 1888, and is now an army surgeon in the Philippines, has written to President Fisher, of Hanover college, his willingness to establish permanently in the college the prize of a handsome gold medal to be given from year to year for distinction in certain lines of scientific work. The details are left to the college authorities. Thus far it is determined that the work shall be either biology or chemistry, and therefore under Professor Young. The prize will be known as the Shelby medal, so-called in honor of Dr. Shelby's father, at one time a student at Hanover. Dr. Shelby entered the army as a contract surgeon in September, 1888, but he has rapidly advanced and is now captain and assistant surgeon.

NEELY CERTAIN OF RELEASE

MUNCIE PEOPLE THINK THAT HE WILL NEVER BE TRIED.

HE HOLDS THE UPPER HAND

His Friends Are Recalling the Many Adventures in Which He Has Always Come Out at the Top.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

MUNCIE, Ind., August 14.—If Charles Neely were to come stepping into Muncie tomorrow without warning, it would cause little surprise and would attract very little attention, because at least half the people who know him here, have asserted that he never will be tried, much less convicted. They know him of old and have absolute faith in his ability to come out ahead in any deal he may undertake. The stories of his many precarious adventures are household tales. Many are surprised that he has allowed himself to be in confinement all this time, and it would be difficult to convince some of them that he is not in jail because he prefers to be there rather than anywhere else. "He has powerful friends at court," is the sententious expression often used in explanation of a belief that Neely will yet be free, but below that is an almost superstitious belief that he is invulnerable to legal shafts. Neely's life has been notoriously checkered heretofore, but he never before has been so sure of himself.

Information through private sources indicates that Neely, himself, has hopes of liberty so strong that they amount almost to certainty. To his friends who, in confidence, are awaiting his home-coming, he is the same "Weather" Neely, implacable, smiling, daring, silent, friendly, bluff and hearty, that he always was. If he should come back they would not expect him to issue a statement concerning himself or to mention his trouble. They feel that he would think such a course undignified. He would discuss politics, prospects for good investments in Cuba, anything, but himself, just as he did when he was under bond.

Deadheading His Way from Louisville to Princeton.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

ENGLISH, Ind., August 14.—Chris Washington, of Memphis, Tenn., twenty years old, while riding on a through freight on the Southern railroad, was shot by the head brakeman near Milltown, while the car was in motion. He was struck in the chest and his life ebbled to have paid the brakeman $2 to go to Princeton, and he demanded more, and because he would not pay it he shot him. His brother Summer was with him, and they were going to Princeton to work. They had been working in Louisville, Ky.

Initial Street Fair at Brazil.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

BRAZIL, Ind., August 14.—The initial fair will be held here during the week of September 2. Two unusual features will be the coal and clay exhibits. Two large arches will be erected over Main street, at the Walnut street crossing, the material composed of the various clay products manufactured here, and ornamented with block and bituminous models. Booths will be constructed in the arch for individual exhibits of coal, bituminous, and clay. The coal men have also decided to range two miniature mines on the street, one showing a mine operated by electrical machinery and the other by pick mining. During the week the Brazil Fair Racing Association will give the fastest, offering purses aggregating $3,000. During the same week the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor will be held here.

Joined the Co-Operative Federation.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., August 14.—The Johnson Glass Company and the Cleveland Glass Company, of this city, have joined the Federation of Co-Operative Window Glass Companies. The two concerns represent a capacity of sixty pots, greater than that of any city in the federation. The growth of the co-operative federation is very rapid, and now represents nearly 60 pots capacity, almost as much as the Independent Glass Company. The federation is now a strong factor in the window glass trade.

Special Telegrams for Quick Reading

BILLSBORO, Ind., August 14.—At a time when it was thought that Dearborn and Ohio counties were free of smallpox, four new cases have developed: the victims, Miss Jeanette Cochran, daughter of the Rev. George Cochran, and Miss Rose Mattox, daughter of George Mattox, of Aurora, and Mrs. Loring Craft and little son, of Rising Sun. The evening before they were stricken, Miss Cochran and Mattox were members of a hay-riding party, and it is feared their companions will be affected.

The Western Furniture Company and the Union Furniture Company are each erecting additional buildings, that will cost $10,000. The Adams-Curtis Shoe Company also is building a large addition. The prosperity these concerns have brought to Batesville has caused building acts to move with double in value.

MUNCIE, Ind., August 14.—Dal Reason, of Anderson, made a desperate attempt to kidnap his ten-year-old daughter from Mrs. Samuel Clark, formerly his wife. He seized the child at the home of his mother, when Mrs. Clark began fighting him. The child was dropped, when Reason turned upon the mother. DRY WEATHER IN CLINTON.

No Green Feed can be Had for Live Stock.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

FRANKFORT, Ind., August 14.—This county never before experienced such a drought as it has during the present dry spell. In point of dry weather records it is believed by people who have kept tabs on the action of the elements for many years that no other county in the State has had so little rain as has Clinton in the same length of time. With the exception of one little shower three weeks ago, when but 12 of an inch of rain fell, there has been no rain since June 21. The corn crop is now past redemption, there being but a very small per cent. of the acreage that rains would benefit, and that only slightly. Hundreds of farmers are feeding dry feed to cattle, and have been for weeks. There is absolutely no green feed to be had for any price. The ground is so badly baked that it will be impossible to plow for wheat until it rains. Many farmers are finding it a hard task to provide enough water for their stock.

CUTLERY. CUTLERY.

WATER SUPPLY IS LOW

WELL DRIVERS ARE OVERRUN WITH ORDERS.

RIVER LOWER THAN IN YEARS

Is Now One Foot Below the Mark—Well Drivers Have to Go Deep for Water—North Side Wells Holding Up.

"Please be as economical as possible with the water, as the drought is threatening the supply. After using turn the faucet," is a sign seen in some of the big downtown buildings where the water supply comes from wells.

In the various factories there is not yet any apparent diminution in the supply from the deep wells. Many yards, however, are short of water and well drivers say they are overrun with orders to drive wells deeper. As a general thing water has been struck in this city about twenty-eight feet from the surface of the ground and the wells were then usually driven ten feet farther. Now the well-drivers have to go eight feet farther, but they make it fifteen feet farther for safety and final economy. In low parts, as in West Indianapolis, water is found much nearer the surface. On the east bank of the river, however, there are more wells going dry than in any other part of the city, particularly in the northwest part. The South Side wells are also getting scant of water. On the North Side there is no complaint as yet. There the people are better able to afford wells that go sixty to 100 feet down to second water, which is both more plentiful and more nearly pure.

One well-driver, who usually does a modest business, says that he now has twenty-two men driving wells deeper, and is still behind in his orders. "Whenever the water in the river is low," said the pump man, "the water in wells is low, or gone altogether, and a peculiar thing is that the water does not come back. We have to go deeper now for water than we used to before we had sewers. These carry off the water. Where we used to get lots of water and good water at twenty feet, now we have to go twice that depth."

River Lowest in Many Years.

The water in the river is one foot below low water mark. It has not been so low for many years. At the Brown-Ketchum works, Haughville, it was recently decided that an eighty-foot well ought to be supplemented by another not far from it. The well-drivers were surprised when they got down eighty feet and found no water. They are now 120 feet, with no sign of water. On the other hand, the National Malleable Castings Company, a block away, is getting an abundant supply of water from forty-foot wells. The laundries are great water-users, their needs being $500 to $800 gallons a day each for the clothes washing department alone. In many of them city water is used for the boilers in the engine room.

The Brightwood water-works wells show no diminution. The wells are from one and a half to four inches in diameter and thirty-seven to 140 feet deep. There is no sign of the supply wanting in any of these deep wells.

Expressions of Members on Police Dispatch Company Matter.

The members of the Board of Safety say the board's attention has not been officially called to any matters concerning the Police Dispatch Company by representatives of the Central Labor Union. Chairman Hyde said that about a dozen employees of the company had secured police powers on the board. "When responsible persons ask for police powers," said the chairman, "we can not refuse them. The powers given to these men can be revoked at any time by the board, and will be as soon as it is apparent they are being abused. Under these circumstances, I do not believe that organized labor or any other class has any reason to be alarmed. The company's system, merchants tell me, is superior to that we have had, but if their men attempt to do anything inimical to the interests of the city, the board will soon stop it."

Mr. Mahoney said that personally he had no use for the company; that it was paying some of its men as low as $4 a week and that he did not believe the company was living up to its contract to retain the old merchant policemen, or that it intended to pay them fair wages. "I do not know whether or not they are employing cheap men," said Mr. Mahoney, "but I know that the men have to pull boxes regularly and customers may have assurance that the men are making their rounds. If the company employs poor men, it will soon be evident to patrons and there will be no company. The board will see that any police powers granted are properly used."

INTERURBAN FREIGHT.

Safety Board Thinks Maryland Street Might be Used for It.

Discussing the blocking of traffic in South Meridian street by drays loading goods into and unloading from the interurban cars, the members of the Board of Safety said to-day that if the condition complained of continues the companies ought to be asked to make their terminal in some street where the traffic is not so heavy. Maryland street is not now used by the street railway company and the freight cars could stand there with less public inconvenience, the members thought.

Monument Engine Fuel Question.

The board of regents of the Soldiers' Monument is in a quandary as to what kind of fuel it shall use to furnish power to run the Monument engines when natural gas gives out. The board does not feel that there is need of immediate provision for a year or two, but that there will be in a year or two. No provision has been made at the Monument for the submission of the board at its next meeting by the superintendent.

Another Interurban Line.

The Richmond, Union City & Portland Interurban Company has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State, with a capital stock of $50,000. The line is to extend from Richmond north to Portland. The directors are, for the most part, Union City men, with two stockholders from New York.
